Keep Your Children Safe!

Small children need lots of supervision, especially during the first three years of life. They grab everything they can. Almost always these things end up in their mouths.

Check Your House And Make It Safer For Your Children:

- Keep medicines out of reach - and out of sight - of all children. Never call medicine “candy.”
- Lock drawers and doors that small children can open.
- Use safety caps to cover electrical outlets that are not being used.
- Keep plastic bags and small objects away from small children; they might choke on them.
- Use safety gates at the top and bottom of stairs to avoid falls.

Many things can poison children. Keep plants, medicines, vitamins, cosmetics, cleaners, pesticides, and other chemicals away from children.

Make sure that toys don’t have sharp edges, strings, or loose parts that might harm your children. Give them only toys recommended for their age. Before buying toys, check the labels.

Do not let children play near the kitchen stove. Keep hot pots out of their reach to prevent burns.

Never leave small children alone in the bathroom. A bathtub can be very dangerous. There are many things and places in your house that are dangerous for your children.

Keep anything dangerous out of your children’s reach!
