

CANNING WORKSHOP

Applesauce

APPLESAUCE

Grow local. Shop Local. Eat Local.

Meet your neighbors. Discover new flavors. Taste the difference. Support your community. Create memories. Buy local.

Wednesday

September 18, 2013

Time: 10:30am — 12:30pm

Location: UC Cooperative Auditorium (2156 Sierra Way, San Luis Obispo, 93405)

Need to register for class and $10.00 for supplies and materials; vouchers available for Food Bank recipients; register: 781-5944*

Wednesday

October 9, 2013

Time: 9:00am — 11:00am

Location: Oceano Community Center (1425 19th Street, Oceano 93445)

Need to register for class and $10.00 for supplies and materials; vouchers available for Food Bank recipients; register: 781-5944*

Wednesday

November 13, 2013

Time: 1:00pm — 3:00pm

Location: Nipomo Senior Center (200 E Dana Street, Nipomo)

Need to register for class and $10.00 for supplies and materials; vouchers available for Food Bank recipients; register: 781-5944*

FALL FOOD PRESERVATION WORKSHOPS

The UC Cooperative Extension (UCCE) and the SLO County Food Bank is happy to announce the beginning of food preservation workshops for Fall 2013. With local apples being in full throttle from August to December, we will be offering workshops on how to make and preserve applesauce!

These workshops will offer tastings, demonstrations and canning materials. These workshops welcome the public interested in preserving local produce. Each workshop requires registration and a $10.00 admission fee for supplies and materials (vouchers available for Food Bank recipients). Please register by calling (805) 781-5944. For additional information regarding the food preservation workshops, please contact Christine Nelson, UCCE, at (805) 781-5944. These workshops are funded through a USDA Community Food Project grant.