Beef Quality Assurance Program

Thursday, January 30, 2014

6-9 PM

UCCE Mendocino County Extension Auditorium
890 N. Bush Street, Ukiah, 95482

Speakers: Dr. Jim Oltjen, UCCE Specialist, Animal Management Systems
Dr. Gene Harland, Veterinarian
Jill Scofield, Manager, Producer Communications, California Beef Council
John Harper, UCCE Mendocino, Livestock and Natural Resources Advisor

Who Should Attend? All beef cattle producers: large or small, full or part-time, also youth involved with 4-H and FFA. Producing safe, wholesome, quality beef is the business of EVERYONE who handles beef cattle.

The educational program is a training and certification in beef quality assurance. It is designed for owners, ranch managers, youth and cowboys. Topics covered include proper livestock handling and care and administration of vaccines, antibiotics, implants, and other pharmaceutical products. The California Cattlemen's Association (CCA) and the University of California Cooperative Extension (UCCE) developed the program.

You MUST preregister on or before Jan 23rd so class materials can be ordered.

Everyone needs to preregister on or before January 23rd so that adequate materials are available for participants.
