*Easy Natives for Your Garden:
A plant sale preview with Orchid Black, Landscape Designer*

Thursday, October 16, 2014 - 7:00 pm

Get your “must have” list of native plants started in preparation for our chapter’s fall plant sale on November 8. Discover a fabulous palette of easy-to-grow California species and cultivars, including beautiful free-flowering plants proven to perform in varied locales and conditions. Working with the availability list for our plant sale, Orchid will highlight the best plants for the Inland Empire. Beautiful images of plant materials will be shown, and questions about growing natives will be answered.

Orchid Black is a garden designer working in the greater Los Angeles area and whose practice focuses on using California native plants. Her gardens have been featured on the Theodore Payne Foundation (TPF) Garden Tour for several years. Orchid also teaches sustainable garden practice for UCLA Extension, and lectures frequently about native plants and sustainability in the landscape. She is a member of the Board of Directors of the California Native Plant Society and the President of the local San Gabriel Mountains Chapter of CNPS.

Also learn about our new Chapter Conservation Project—planting a bioswale to preserve restored alkali meadow habitat at Bonomino Park in Riverside.
