

UCCE Master Gardener's of Glenn County Newsgram

December 2022

This is a Test Newsletter!

This is my first newsletter as the new Volunteer Program Coordinator for our Glenn County Master Gardener program. With that said, I am stepping into some big shoes previously filled by volunteer coordinator, Nancy Mulligan. I appreciate her leadership and her continued support. I hope I am able to fill her shoes. Thanks Nancy!

As I step into this role, I can't help but reflect on our accomplishments with our small but mighty group. Sadly, we have lost some members, but on the bright side we gained members Deb Storz, Mary Ann Deemings and Sheila Skemp. Despite the challenges they have faced joining Master Gardeners during the pandemic, they have hung in there and brought new energy to our group.

I also reflect on the future and how we can expand our activities in the New Year.

We are currently focusing on identifying ways to increase public education and at the same time provide wider visibility for the Master Gardener program. The goal and objective is to publicize the program and generate interest in the 2024 Master Gardener Training.

One project we have identified is through the 4-H Program, where we will provide 6 hour teaching venue for 5-8 year olds. This program is currently in the development stages. Through this project we may accomplish providing public education to children and their parents. And peak interest in the volunteer opportunity. More to come on this activity and how you can participate in January.

Looking forward to your ideas and suggestions to improve public education in Glenn County.
