My Amador County Fair Highlights

By Lexi Himmel

At the Amador County Fair I had a lot of fun. The highlight of the fair week was doing barn duty. I really enjoyed letting kids and their parents pet and sometimes hold my rabbit, guinea pig, and chickens. When I was doing barn duty one day, I heard a little kid point at a turkey and say "Mom, look how big that chicken is!" A little while after this when I had my chicken out with me the same little boy came up to me to pet him. The breed of chicken that I had with me was called a Modern Game and they have very long legs. While I was holding him a lot of people asked me what kind of animal he was. One lady even asked me if it was a pheasant. I then told these people that this is a chicken and its breed is a Modern Game. The Fair was super fun and I really enjoyed telling people all about my animals.
