A. INTRODUCTION

The Marine Corps Air Ground Center (MCAGCC), Twentynine Palms, is the Marine Corps' largest combined-arms, live-fire training facility, encompassing 1,102 square miles of mostly public lands in the Mojave Desert, California. The Combat Center is divided into 27 range training area management units, each of which may contain training areas, landing fields, targetry, main supply routes, fixed ranges, support areas, expeditionary areas, and safety buffer zones. Armed forces use the Combat Center to train troops and test equipment. MCAGCC annually provides training to one-third of the Fleet Marine Force and Reserves Units.

Significant cultural resources exist on the installation, and are managed in accordance with MCAGCC's Integrated Cultural Resources Management Plan (ICRMP). The Conservation Branch is the branch of the Environmental Affairs division responsible for the day-to-day operations and long-term management of cultural resources within MCAGCC boundaries, including management of paleontological, archaeological, historic resources and conservation law enforcement. The Conservation Branch provides a liaison between MCAGCC and other Federal landholders and consults with state and Federal regulatory agencies regarding cultural resources. This branch also holds the primary responsibility for the planning and implementation of the ICRMP, ensures that MCAGCC land use is monitored and that the best scientific practices for resources management are implemented to sustain the Marine Corps training mission.

The Conservation Branch maintains a cultural resources collection that includes artifacts found on and representing the archaeological prehistory and history of MCAGCC and other Marine Corps installations in the region. The collection also includes reports describing archaeological resources and artifact analyses and dispositions. The collection is housed at MCAGCC, but many of the collection components have not undergone proper accessioning, and the collection inventory is out of date. In order to comply with the installation's ICRMP and federal regulations, the collection must be properly inventoried, with new items accessioned in a formal, documented manner. Moreover, a representation of the collection must be displayed for public view on the installation, but the current display is small and unsatisfactory. Once updated, the collection provides a unique opportunity to facilitate research to better understand the archaeological context of the native peoples who traditionally utilized the area of what is now MCAGCC.

B. PURPOSE

This purpose of this Cooperative Agreement is to provide assistance to MCAGCC in managing the archaeological collection. This is to include accessioning the backlog of artifacts and reports, receiving and processing new artifacts and reports, managing and updating the inventory database, facilitating and conducting research on the collection, and designing and assembling a full-room interpretive archaeological display.

C. LOCATION

Work will include on-site work at MCAGCC installation, as well as off-site support.

3. The Recipient at its sole cost and expense, may insure its activities in connection with this Cooperative Agreement by maintaining a program of self-insurance that complies with the requirements of this Section O, including coverages specified in Attachment A hereof. Recipient shall also provide a copy of the exempting statute cited in support of its claim of self-insurance pursuant to Section 2 of Attachment A to this Cooperative Agreement. 6. In the event that any item or part of the premises or facilities shall require repair, rebuilding, or replacement resulting from loss or damage, the risk of which is assumed under this Section O, the Recipient shall promptly give notice thereof to the US Government and, to the extent of its liability as provided in this Section O, shall, upon demand, either compensate the US Government for such loss or damage, or rebuild, replace or repair the item or items of the premises or facilities so lost or damaged, as the US Government may elect. If the cost of such repair, rebuilding, or replacement exceeds the liability of the Recipient for such loss or damage under this Section O, the Recipient shall effect such repair, rebuilding, or replacement if required so to do by the US Government, and such excess of cost shall be reimbursed to the Recipient by the US Government. In the event the Recipient shall have effected any repair, rebuilding, or replacement which the Recipient is required to effect pursuant to this Section O, the US Government shall direct payment to the Recipient of so much of the proceeds of any insurance carried by the Recipient and made available to the US Government on account of loss of or damage to any item or part of the premises or facilities as may be necessary to enable the Recipient to effect such repair, rebuilding or replacement. In event the Recipient shall not have been required to effect such repair, rebuilding, or replacement, and the insurance proceeds allocable to the loss or damage which has created the need for such repair, rebuilding or replacement have been paid to the Recipient, the Recipient shall promptly refund to the US Government the amount of such proceeds.
