About Us

Since 1914 UC Cooperative Extension has been the bridge between local issues and innovative answers through the power of UC research.

Our advisors, specialists, faculty, and staff are committed to these principles:
• Connecting Californians to their University
• Being a leader to bring science-based solutions
• Providing information that is trustworthy and not biased
• Providing research that is practical to use
• Addressing the local concerns of communities
• Inviting the participation of all concerned stakeholders
• Serving where private industry cannot or will not UC ANR's work makes a difference in the lives of all Californians.

Job Description

The Area County Director is responsible for the coordination and overall operation of University of California Cooperative Extension (UCCE) programs in Riverside, Orange, and San Bernardino Counties. Responsibilities include providing oversight of UCCE educational and applied research programs; providing direction and leadership to UCCE academic and support staff; maintaining effective communication within UC and county government; securing adequate UCCE county budgets; maintaining positive working relationships with partnering public and private agencies; and expanding collaborations and funding sources. The Area County Director will increase the visibility of UCCE by communicating the positive impacts and benefits realized by the citizens and workforce of the local counties, region and state through the activities and contributions of local UCCE programs.

UCCE is administered by the University of California, Division of Agriculture Natural Resources (UC ANR), who, in partnership with federal, state, local, and private resources, bridges the gap between local issues and the power of UC research through its agriculture, natural resources, youth development and nutrition programs. UCCE academics, staff, and volunteers live and work in the communities they serve, helping identify, respond to, and resolve local challenges with the backing of campus-based specialists and Agricultural Experiment Station (AES) faculty. UC ANR connects Californians to UC, leading the way to science-based solutions.

The Director will provide transformational leadership that will serve as a model for UCCE throughout California and the U.S.
