

Workshop

2025 Irrigation and Nutrient Management Meeting for Vegetable and Berry Crops

Thursday, August 21

Register to join us for this free workshop: https://surveys.ucanr.edu/survey.cfm?surveynumber=46610
Si necesita traducción simultánea al español, este servicio estará disponible a petición.

Location: United Water Conservation District. 1701 Lombard Street. Oxnard, CA 93030 (34.2171867, -119.1498898)

CCA: 3.5 hours applied - Nutrient Management (1.5) and Soil & Water Management (2.0)

VCAILG: 3.0 educational hours applied

Agenda

8:20	Introductory remarks
8:25	From Drought to Deliverance – Ventura County's Water Future Demands Bold Moves. Bram Sercu, Water Resources Supervisor, United Water Conservation District
8:50	New Irrigation & Nutrient Reporting Requirements: What Growers Need to Know. Jodi Switzer, Water Program Director, Farm Bureau of Ventura County
9:15	Surface and Groundwater Nitrogen Monitoring in Ventura County and Where that is Leading us Under the Ag Order. Amy Storm, Senior Scientist, Larry Walker Associates
9:40	Appraising Uncertainties and Errors of Satellite Remote Sensing ET for Specialty Crops in the Context of SGMA. Daniele Zaccaria, Professor and Extension Specialist of Ag Water Management, UC Davis
10:05	Break
10:20	Troubleshooting Techniquest for Efficient Drip Irrigation Systems. Khaled Bali, Irrigation and Water Management Specialist, UC Cooperative Extension
10:45	Role of Soil Moisture in Macrophomina Development in Strawberries. Lindsey Pedroncelli, Interim Director, South Coast Research and Extension Center
11:10	Assessing Drip vs Micro-sprinkler Irrigation During Strawberry Establishment – 2 nd Season. Andre Biscaro, Irrigation and Water Resources Advisor, UC Cooperative Extension Ventura County
11:35	Effect of Salinity and Water Stresses on Macrophomina Development in Strawberry Production in SLO. Marina Gutierrez, Cal Poly SLO Strawberry Center
12:00	Closing remarks

For more info, contact: asbiscaro@ucanr.edu