

Community Outreach & Fundraiser

“Let’s Garden Together” brings together timeless gardening topics, including growing roses, attracting pollinators, and producing delicious fruit. Gardeners are encouraged to consider the impact that we have on the communities that surround us - our neighbors of all ages, and other local garden enthusiasts – as we make choices about what and where to plant. The calendar also explores the value of garden clubs, and community and demonstration gardens.

This gardening guide and calendar is appropriate for gardeners of all levels and styles. The practices encouraged within the calendar are those recommended by the University of California Master Gardener Program.

We are a non-profit organization and appreciate your support.

This calendar is suitable for climate zones from California’s Central Valley to the foothills. For other climate zones, modify the tips as needed to adapt to your area’s growing conditions.
