Greetings from UC ANR

I want to start by thanking all of you who have participated in our Forest Stewardship Workshops. We began our workshops with the goal of helping landowners start on the path towards developing forest management plans and increasing the resilience of your forestland. We had some pretty good ideas of how to do this and hoped our curriculum and delivery would provide the information and skills you needed. Your response to the workshop has been overwhelmingly positive and we are thrilled to have met your expectations.

However, we know there is more work to do. Throughout the workshop and the evaluations, you provided thoughtful and constructive feedback which we have taken to heart. We have slightly revised our curriculum and delivery to address some of your comments. I have been adding additional resources to our webpage (see below) and have scheduled our first Follow-up Workshop (more information to come!).

So, please continue to send me your thoughts and ideas. Susie, Mike, Ricky, myself and the rest of the Forest Stewardship Workshop Team look forward to your success in developing and implementing forest management plans that best meet your ecological and economic goals. – Kim Ingram, kcingram@ucanr.edu

"I admire your teams' professionalism, competence, and passion. I feel grateful to have encountered this resource and feel grateful that it exists. Great work! Thank you!" – Workshop participant

Redding Workshop Update

To protect the health of our workshop participants and presenters due to the potential spread of COVID-19, we had to make the difficult decision of canceling Day 3 of our Redding Workshop.

However, we are currently working with our presenters and RPFs to develop distance learning alternatives to share workshop information and provide participants with opportunities to engage RPFs.

In the coming weeks, we will be hosting four, one-hour webinar sessions to provide the information slated for Day 3. Webinar details will be sent out shortly.

Webinars are scheduled for April 14th, 16th, 21st and 23rd at 3:00pm. Join the meeting at:

Meeting ID: 318 684 750

Workshop participants also have the option of attending Day 3 at another workshop location (see page 1). If you wish to participate in another location, or have any questions about Zoom, please contact Kim Ingram at kcingram@ucanr.edu.

CCFMP Property History Survey

The property history section of your California Cooperative Forest Management Plan can be completed based on property records, local sources as well as your personal experience on the ground. This section also includes past management history, conservation practices and catastrophic events.

Let us know how you are coming along with this section by going to the survey and answering a few short questions. We love data and are here to assist if you need help!

UC Extension Forestry on YouTube!!

Needing an intellectual break from these crazy times? UC Extension Forestry has a wealth of information on YouTube that you can use to help develop your management plans.

Go to: UC Extension Forestry - YouTube and learn about 'Options for Prescribed Fire on Private Lands', or 'Conservation Easements: A Tool for Working Forest Conservation'.

New and Relevant Online Resources

We continue to update the UC Forest Stewardship Workshop Materials web page with new publications and handouts. New materials include handouts on snag retention and an Avenza Maps Field Guide. New workshop materials

The Additional Resources web page is a great place to go if you need help on where to find information for your plan such as historical information from CHRIS Inventory. Additional resources

If you come across a relevant website or other resource, and would like to share it with other workshop participants, please contact Kim Ingram.
